Introduction

All MNPS high school seniors will participate in a capstone experience. A capstone experience is a project that allows students to learn about themselves by moving an idea or dream toward a topic of interest, specialization, community need, or career choice. According to the Tennessee graduation requirements, all students must complete a capstone experience which may include, but is not limited to: senior project, virtual enterprise, internship, externship, work-based learning, service learning, and community service (0520-1-3-.06)

In the spring semester of the 11th grade year, students will select their course experience, with the approval of their advisor and principal, from the following options:

AP Capstone
Approaches to Learning II (IB Capstone)
Clinical Internship
Theory of Knowledge II (IB Capstone)
ISR IV
Senior Capstone
Work-Based Learning

All students will receive one required elective credit for completion of the capstone project. If students have a full schedule their senior year, the “Capstone” course can be added as a virtual course at no charge to the student.

Project Types: Once enrolled in a capstone project courses, students will select one of the following types of projects:

- Community Service
- Extended Observation
- Internship
- Research Project
- Senior Showcase
- Service Learning
- Work-Based Learning
Capstone Experience Definitions

Clinical Internship – this is a course offered through Health Science Academies for students who wish to work in the medical profession. Students must be approved by the instructor in order to enroll in this course.

Community Service – work with the community to develop a new approach to established programs, services or events, teach civic responsibility, or encourage lifelong civic engagement.

Extended Observation – documented observation of a field of study. This is similar to job shadowing, but for an extended amount of time and in more depth.

Internship – the study of a program directly related to a career interest and to participate in a workplace setting by performing duties related to the occupation being studied. Internships can be paid or un-paid depending on the employer.

ISR IV – Integrated Scientific Research is a course that immediately follows Research III (summer research internship). Students will continue and complete their research project, and communicate outcomes. Students will prepare and submit their projects to one or more national science competitions as well as submit a manuscript for submission to the joint CSO and VUMC Lens Magazine in-house research journal and potentially for national publication. Projects in this course are considered research projects.

Senior Project – a self-development or curriculum-based project focused on a specific discipline or skill. Projects in this course are considered research projects.

Senior Showcase – a culminating performance event in an art, dance or music field.

Service Learning - an experiential method of teaching, learning and reflecting that combines classroom curriculum with meaningful service. In MNPS, service learning takes place on school premises.

Work-Based Learning (apprenticeships) - the opportunity for students to learn a variety of skills by expanding the walls of classroom learning to include the community and narrowing the gap between theory and practice to provide meaning and relevance for students. Students learn a variety of skills through rigorous academic preparation with hands-on career development experiences by working in teams, solving problems, and meeting employers’ expectations. These experiences take place during the school day with a teacher mentor.
Capstone Course Requirements

All students who are enrolled in a “Capstone” course must complete the capstone course requirements listed below. Some capstone courses may have additional requirements based on the course description. There are four requirements for the Capstone courses:

1) Paper
2) Product
3) Portfolio (including documentation of a minimum of 40 hours in the community)
4) Presentation

Students will be given a grading rubric for each of the requirements. Grades for this course will be determined by the points earned on each requirement. Modifications are allowable as set forth by an IEP or S-Team determination.

1) Paper
The research paper component of the Capstone experience allows the student to explore a topic of the student’s choice and gain knowledge related to the student’s product and portfolio. This paper assumes that the student is working on the paper either before or during the student’s work on the Capstone product. It is designed to be an enjoyable experience in which the students can work toward their own personal knowledge goals and complete a paper that shows knowledge gained from the Capstone experience.

Paper Topic: The topic for the Capstone paper is developed by the student with advice from the Capstone teacher, senior English teacher, and CTE or other relevant course teachers. The topic should relate to the other Capstone elements. The topic must be rigorous enough in that the student is using quality sources to gain previously unknown knowledge. It should not just be a personal essay or journal. It should be original to the Capstone course, not using any writing from previous courses. The student shall propose the topic during the beginning of the Capstone experience. The topic must be approved by the school’s Lead Capstone teacher.
Paper Requirements: This is a research paper that must be completed in conjunction with the senior English class. The Capstone paper is a 2300-word research paper that utilizes a minimum of five cited sources in MLA format with appropriate in-paragraph citations. Only text in the body of the paper counts towards the word limit. The paper should reflect gained knowledge from research and not be written completely from the student’s own experiences. The English teacher will assist students in completing this assignment and a grade for the paper will be assigned through the English class as well as the Capstone class. The minimum requirements for the paper are:

- A research body of at least 2300 words with MLA in-paragraph citations with page numbers. Whether the body needs sub-sections is left to the discretion of the Capstone teacher and student on a paper-by-paper basis. Visuals such as pictures and charts are optional, and text in these visuals does not count towards the word minimum.
- Lists of visuals or figures or appendices, if appropriate for the paper (optional).
- A works cited page containing at least five sources referenced in the paper in MLA format.

Optional Local Requirements: The following items may be added at teacher/building discretion:

- A title page with a unique title, the student’s name, date of submission, school, Capstone teacher’s name, and word count of the body of the paper
- A table of contents
- A bibliography containing works consulted for the paper but not cited.
- Any appendices appropriate to the paper’s topic.

Format Requirements:

- Font: All pages of the paper (including Works Cited) shall be double-spaced in a 12pt font.
- Margins: Right and left margins shall not exceed 1.25”, and the top and bottom margins shall not exceed 1”.
- Page numbers: All pages from the body forward shall have page numbers.
- Justification: The title page (if utilized) shall be center-justified; the rest of the paper shall be left-justified.
- Citation: Regardless of whether research is paraphrased or directly cited, all researched elements will be documented using MLA style.
- Exceptions: While most Capstone papers are anticipated to be following the guidelines printed above, the Lead Capstone teacher can allow leeway if such exceptions clearly enhance the paper’s purpose or better align with submission requirements for other MNPS or external programs.

Sourcing:
• It is expected of students doing research for the Capstone paper that they will consult with high quality sources. While many kinds of sources may be appropriate beginning places for research, Capstone students are expected to use sources of high reliability and authenticity. As such the following types of sources may not be paraphrased or cited as sources in the final draft at all:
  o Webpages without enough material on them to determine an author or authoring organization.
  o Summary websites or discussion boards like About.com, Yahoo Answers, WikiAnswers, or eHow.com.
  o Wikipedia (however, using “related links” in Wikipedia to locate possible sources is allowed) o Information from websites offering completed research papers.
  o Individual or personal websites that lack apparent authority.
• Any final drafts using any of these sources shall be deemed unacceptable until corrected.
• Students are encouraged to take advantage of school and public library sources of information as well as MNPS databases.

Advanced Capstone and English Courses: Each school’s English department or Lead Capstone Teacher may assign additional requirements for honors, dual enrollment, AP, and IB courses. IB and AP Capstone teachers may modify these requirements in order to meet external requirements (such as the IB Extended Essay) or to increase rigor. For example, IB students writing a paper in psychology may use another professional citation format. Or, a teacher may increase the word limit or sourcing rigor. Due to this, these teachers may modify the paper rubric to reflect different expectations.

Plagiarism/Ethics:

• While some research is required, the major voice in the paper is expected to be the student’s. Students should avoid a paper that just lists sources or is primarily composed of quoted material.
• All paraphrased material must be cited with an in-paragraph citation at either the end of the paraphrasing or the end of the paragraph as appropriate. Students are encouraged to paraphrase as an alternative to direct quotations unless the author’s exact words are necessary.
• All directly quoted material must be either marked in quotation marks or inserted as a block quotation and cited immediately at the end of the quotation.
• Plagiarism is defined as using another source’s words or information without giving proper credit.
• Final papers submitted without proper citations are deemed plagiarized. When a plagiarized paper is submitted, the student shall first be given the opportunity to correct plagiarism errors. A subsequent offense or refusal to correct the plagiarism shall jeopardize the completion of the Capstone course and possibly incur further disciplinary action.

2) Product
This is something that the student plans, develops, and implements based on what they have learned through their experiences or research paper. Examples of products are: inventions, models, events, policies/procedures, manual, campaigns, websites, apps or programs, etc.

Requirements:
• Created by the student
• Tangible or Programmable – it needs to be a physical model or document or it needs to be originally created by the student to be manipulated via technology like a website or a program
• Relate to the research paper and/or the documented field hours

*For students who are choosing to do a project that involves other seniors, they have the option of combining their product and presentation as well as collaborating with other seniors to complete this requirement. If a student chooses this option, they must document their role and participation in the collaborative effort. Examples of this would be three seniors who wish to perform a concert with songs they wrote or two seniors who want to develop a charity event.

3) Portfolio
The portfolio is an organized collection of relevant documents and artifacts that charts the capstone experience; showcasing the research, observations/internship, and most relevant skills. The process of creating a portfolio enables the student to demonstrate examples of the student’s qualifications. It should be seen as an extension of your résumé or curriculum vitae – not a replacement. Within the portfolio, all students must document a minimum of 40 contact hours related to the field of study for the project. These hours can be earned at any time during the students’ high school career, but must relate to the project.

While the information for the portfolio should be kept digitally, the final portfolio must be in a 3-ring binder with both student name and graduation year visible. All required pages should be numbered and placed in sheet protectors (one for each individual sheet of paper). The binder must be available to all panel members at the time of the student’s presentation.

The portfolio contains (in this order):
• Cover sheet (outside of binder) and Title sheet
• Table of Contents with page numbers
• 5 Characteristics of a Graduate Inventory (2 copies, 1 for advisor)
• Resumé
• Brag Sheet
• Letter of Recommendation from adult in the community (non-family member)
• Letter of Recommendation from an educator who has worked with the student in grades 9, 10, or 11
• Letter of Recommendation from 1 other person
• Copy of Commitment Form
• Copy of Research Paper
• Log sheet - documentation of hours (if the product was collaborative, each person must also document their role and contributions)
• A minimum of 10 pictures documenting the overall experience
• Answers to reflection questions

4) Presentation
Students must create a PowerPoint, Prezi, or similar electronic document that is an overview of their capstone project and present to a minimum of two teachers, one school administrator, students, and a community member. Presentations must be between 8-10 minutes not including at least 3 minutes for questions. Student presentations must also reflect defining moments in their education, defining moments in their capstone experience, and future educational goals and career plans. Each school will set up presentation times for students. Only students who have successfully completed their paper, product, and portfolio will be allowed to present.

Each student will:

1) Meet professional presentation appearance guidelines.
2) Speak for a range of 8-10 minutes using a technological visual aid (PowerPoint, Movie Maker, etc.) to enhance the spoken presentation. If Movie Maker is used, it may take up no more than one minute of the presentation time.
3) Reflect on the following within the presentation:
   a. Research paper (process and/or content)
   b. Defining Moments in Past Education
   c. Future Educational Goals and Career Plans
   d. Contact Hours
4) At the time of presentation, submit to the Senior Project Advisory Committee a typed copy of responses to the ten prepared questions.
5) Answer three prepared questions and three extemporaneous questions.

*If a student completed a product collaboratively with other students, the group may be allowed to present together; however, each student is still required to speak at the presentation.
*Depending on the Capstone project and local school logistics, students should be prepared to present their project multiple times to multiple audiences such as Capstone peers, parents, other grade 9-11 students, and community members.
Completion of Capstone Requirement
Students will be given a grading rubric for each of the four requirements. Grades for this course will be determined by the points earned on each requirement and submission of all forms or meeting of due dates through the end of a grading period. Failure to complete the requirements will result in a failing grade for the course.

Advisors
Students who are enrolled in a capstone course will have the assistance of the capstone teacher. For those who are enrolled in a virtual capstone course, schools will assign each student an advisor to assist with the capstone project. Schools will also provide after school help sessions and time during the advisory period for students to meet with their advisor.

Timelines:
Each school will develop their own timeline with specific due dates based on this recommended timeline. Students will be given suggested due dates and will meet with their advisor a minimum of twice per month to assist them in completing their projects by the presentation date. Sample timelines are included:
